What is National Geographic?

The flagship channel airs non-fiction television programs produced by National Geographic and other production companies. The channel features documentaries with factual content involving nature, science, culture, and history, plus some reality and pseudo-scientific entertainment programming. Its closest network worldwide is Nat Geo Wild, which focuses on animal-related programming, including the popular Dog Whisperer with Cesar Millan.

DO YOU WATCH NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC CONTENT?

WHEN YOU THINK OF NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC WHAT DO YOU THINK OF?

- Magazines and Travel exploration
- The yellow square
- Nature and science
- Traveling, patagonia, the travel excursions
- Nature, beauty of earth
- Magazine covers
- Yellow rectangle, magazines, photography

WHAT WOULD YOU CHANGE IN THE BRANDING OF NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC?

- The rectangle is cool but confusing
- Make the rectangle more connected to the content they are showing
- Currently the way they incorporate digital is gimmicky (AR/VR)
- More modern and bright vibes
- I never see any ads or know of content they put out
- More marketed content

THOUGHTS?

I don't think Nat Geo should change its branding, it's timeless and you would lose the brand

The Iconic Yellow Rectangle

- The rectangle represents a photo frame
- The color yellow represents the sun without which our planet would not be as it is today
- Yellow is the color associated with knowledge and wisdom
- The National Geographic magazine has carried a trademarked yellow border around its edges since 1888

The Four Corners

National Geographic presents a unique branding challenge due to its iconic past and identity. I aspired to give the network a fresh new look while paying homage to its intrinsic branding principles. National Geographic embodies a cinematic oasis of the planet. The concept of “four corners” is a direct nod to National Geographic’s framing device, with each corner representing: North, South, East and West, while the passage of time occurs in the center. The audio, visual and motion language take us back into National Geographic's nostalgic past while still feeling modern.

VISUAL DIRECTION

VISUAL DIRECTION/DELIVERABLES BREAKDOWN

A Modern Nostalgic

- Incorporate numbers, arrow, hard edges
- Type to set location/name of show (bumper)
- Design/animate "the grid"
- Use repetition
- Contrast colors, shot footage, background/foreground colors
- Use grain, overlays, gritty things
